January 6, 2022

Dear Members of the Pennsbury School District Community:

As you are probably aware, the National Weather Service has predicted another weather event for tonight into tomorrow morning. This forecast could definitely change, and we will do our best to make the right decision.

Since we didn't have any snow on our first "snow day," I would like to give our students another chance at a traditional snow day. If we need to close school due to snow tomorrow, it will be a traditional snow day with no remote learning.

Any schedule change will be communicated in the morning between 5:30 a.m. and 5:45 a.m. We will use the following portals to communicate this information: Phone call, email, text, Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, and the district website. Information is usually posted online prior to the phone call and email.

If this week is any indication, it is going to be a long winter. So please prepare for remote learning as all future weather days will be remote learning days.

Thank you for your continued patience and understanding.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Smith, Ed.D.
